DETAILED ACTION

Request for Continued Examination

1. The request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) and a submission, filed on 6/19/09 is accepted.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
3. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kubena et al. (US 6,580,138) in view of Ruffner et al. (US 5,949,071).

Kubena teaches an electronic device comprising a micro-electromechanical systems (MEMS) element at a first side of a substrate (see Abstract and Fig. 12A), the MEMS element comprising a first (contact electrode 38-2) and a second electrode (element 22-2, Fig. 12A) that is movable towards and from the first electrode between a closed and an opened position (col. 2:30-33), and that is separated from the first electrode by an air gap in its opened position (Fig. 12A), wherein the device comprises an etch stop layer (silicon dioxide layer 34, Fig. 12A) between the first electrode and the substrate (col. 6:46-48), the etch stop layer comprising a substantially non-conducting, fluorine chemistry inert material that is inert again chemical dry etching using fluorine chemistry (silicon dioxide is resistant to fluorine) and the substrate being etchable with fluorine chemistry (the substrate is silicon, and silicon is etchable with fluorine).

Kubena does not teach the etch stop layer comprises HfO<sub>2</sub>, ZrO<sub>2</sub>, or TiO<sub>2</sub>. However, Ruffner does teach the use of TiO<sub>2</sub> as an etch stop layer (col. 8:46-51). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use an etch stop layer comprising TiO<sub>2</sub> as taught by Ruffner so as to achieve a higher etch selectivity.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-7 and 12-16 are allowed. See Office Action dated 3/5/09 for reasons for allowance.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Hwang et al. (US 2003/0059720) para. [0178] and Dove et al. (US 2001/0051302) para. [0042] show the use of high-k dielectric materials, in general, and TiO<sub>2</sub>, specifically, as an etch stop layer for better etch selectivity.
